Nobel Laureate Rabindranath Tagore (1861-1941), won Nobel Prize for Literature in 1913.

Hello you all the dear and distantly near colleagues,

Hope you all are safe at home, Stay Home, Stay Safe. Let us share this document with Rabindranath Tagore's positive thought given above. Here is a word of recommendation on e-resource generation and e-content development for the benefit of our students in the wake of the COVID 19 pandemic. Presently, we are sharing our views on how to reach students through the best way our Hon. Prin. Dr. Pandurang Gaikwad has initiated. He is, as usual, guiding us in all possible positive way how we should take on ourselves by making most of the online resources available around. Simultaneously, the M. H. R. D. and U. G. C., the university and government and our Sanstha administration have guided us in this regard. You find the following links collected by the I. Q. A.C. from the discussion underway through our college WhatsApp group since the Zoom Cloud Meetings being conducted under the chairmanship of the principal. Mainly, links have been identified through Vice-Principals Mrs. Mrunalini Shekhar and Mr. Shahaji More, Head of the department of B.B.A.(C.A.) Ms. Priti Nevse and Assistant Professor in Geography Dr. Rajesh Birajdar's suggestions. You are expected to refer to these links and choose the one that suits your need in the best possible manner and generate for the benefit of your students. It goes without saying that this is the high time as the students are preparing for university examinations and your resource must be supplementary to their examination needs in the first place:

Dropbox will not automatically copy all the files on your computer if you're on a personal plan, so you will have to pick and choose which ones you want to save.

Once you've done that, Dropbox will make those files available in the cloud if you need them again.
